- Elected board member of the RMIT University Business Board

Evaluating and advising the board on new proposals for the business school in terms of teaching, research and engagement. This led to a series of changes to the university policies and the development of new programs/policies.

- Program Director of Open Universities Australia (OUA) for the Bachelor of Business (Financial Planning)

As the director, I was in charge of students, academics, administrators and the external partner (OUA). I was on the panel to recruit casual staff and advised on the recruitment of full time staff. I looked after the innovation, compliance, quality assurance and accreditation of the program. This program grew exponentially under my leadership as we took advantage of the government regulations surrounding the new academic qualification requirements of financial advisors.

Embracing new technology and efficiency approaches in online programs.

In 2003, I undertook my first leadership role as the director of a program offered through OUA (Open Universities Australia). My KPI (verbal conversation) at the time was to do nothing as the school was planning to phase out this unsuccessful program. Within six months in my position, it was apparent that this was not a profitable program and that there were ways to improve it. We adopted an efficiency approach that meant we stopped sending students printed notes and used CDs and online download. The savings were in terms of printing costs and the administrator's time. The administrator who was working with me appeared to lack confidence and we worked together to overcome this. She has now been promoted to a higher position and is performing relatively well. In a conference, I demonstrated that 'fancy and expensive' slides made minimal contributions to knowledge as there are other areas of online teaching where investments would be more effective. OUA rewarded me for this contribution with a 'winning formula award'.

- Supervision of research projects

I lead research groups that enable students and colleagues to publish in Tier A and Tier A star. Academics were able to save their jobs whilst others were promoted for their research performance. In addition, we managed to secure research income. Another outcome was the teaching research nexus that improved the quality of the finance program.

- Coaching of junior academic staffs

I have worked in the academic arena since 1999 and since that time I have gained significant knowledge as to how to navigate through multi-disciplinary schools. When I analyse my publications I identify a number of my co-authors were also my junior colleagues. I find collaborating with colleagues to be more enjoyable and rewarding than working on my own and this shows my leadership stage of "Reactive & Socialized Mindset". At present I have several other projects that I am collaborating on with other junior colleagues (both funded and unfunded). One example worth mentioning is in 2014, I travelled to the RMIT campus in Vietnam where I worked with junior colleagues in an effort to jump start the research culture within the finance discipline and this has led to a number of junior staff publishing. In a similar manner, I have mentored and supported several junior/senior faculties at RMIT in Melbourne and UniSA. The fact that I celebrate Thursdays, Fridays, birthdays, Christmas, EID, weddings, funerals and other social activities with my colleagues shows that I have a good relationship with them.

- Founder of the Undergraduate Finance Conference in 2006

Students were able to use this research experience to differentiate themselves from other graduates when entering the job market.

- Industry engagement with ASX, ANZ, FTA, IRESS and the ACFS in Australia and AUSTRADE, Century Financials and Midstar in Dubai, Bunna International Bank in Ethiopia, Maldives Transport and Contracting Company (Maldives).

To ensure academic programs are aligned with industry standards, I maintain a close relationship with the industry. This has led to over 3.5 million dollars of sponsorships and research income. I won an award in 2017 at UniSA for my industry initiatives.

Top Ten Marketing Strategies

(1) Working together with the marketing department to ensure prospective students gets all the information they need in a timely manner (including mystery shopper).

(2) Regular LinkedIn post to attract students. Being the “Academic Influencer”

(3) Set up billboards around govt buildings, construction sites, hospitals, tram, airport with specifics about MAF. It was not possible due to budget constraint but other market strategies have been developed.

(4) Establish links with the industry to attract students

(5) Redesign the MAF website to ensure we have an impressive online profile.

(6) Cutting down the cost of the program by offering a generic MAF with 10 courses. A proposal has been submitted to the UOW MAF program review.

(7) Work on the Blended version of MAF so that I have some ‘cool’ highlights when marketing the program. (It started after an inventory was carried out “A plate to Share”)

(8) Introducing a trading room experience in the curriculum to ensure we have an applied component. (IRESS is ready to offer us a sponsorship and a proposal was submitted to the MAF program review committee at UOW).

(9) Applying the teaching research nexus and andragogy in MAF. FIN907, FIN957, FIN958

(10) Ensuring all students have a positive experience so that they spread the word out.

Other activities carried out as the MAF program leader.

- (1) Rewrote several marketing materials for MAF program (brochures, website etc)
- (2) Handle all administrative matters with regards to MAF
- (3) Handle all borderline applicants for MAF
- (4) Attended most open days in Dubai and Abu Dhabi
- (5) Did several marketing trips in India
- (6) Handle exemptions for MAF
- (7) Member of the committee for the MAF program review at UOW
- (8) Made several leadership presentations at the FOB meetings
- (9) Developed a leadership strategy and presented at the FOB meetings
- (10) Change the MAF admission criteria
- (11) MAF semester planning
- (12) Proposed several variation of the MAF program
- (13) Developed and proposed teaching strategies for MAF
- (14) Considered the implication of the proposed 2019 workload model on MAF academics
- (15) Managed both full time and part time academics teaching in MAF
- (16) Engaged with all internal and external parties with regards to MAF
- (17) Helping others during crisis periods

2021
